The University Liggett School - a co-educational, ollege preparatory day school, situated in Grosse ointe but drawing many students from the Detroit petropolitan area and beyond, a school which is a century old this year. Consider the varied predecessors of the present school: boys' school, girls' school, coducational school; boarding school, day school; Detoit School, Grosse Pointe school; school preparing or boarding school, school preparing for college. How as such a varied heritage been reconciled to form the school of today? To one who reads the history of the institutions involved, it is clear that the explanation es in the essential philosophy of education which they ll shared, something more important than their outward variations. University Liggett School believes in independent education, where families can work closely with the school; in a strong academic program, which stretches each student to his capacity; in adapting its program to the changing needs of each generation, without being blown about irresponsibly by each passing fashion in education. So did the predecessor schools. Had not ULS not shown itself adaptable to a changing world, it could not have survived for one-hundred years; if it had not stayed true to some fixed principles, it would not deserve to have survived. Unversity Liggett School is a noble example of Permanet mutando. (It endures because it changes.)

The Liggett School was founded as the Detroit Home and Day School in 1878 by James Liggett, a Congregational minister and newspaper publisher. His daughter was in the first graduating class of Vassar College, and he was committed to the education of women in order to prepare them to take an active part in the expanding world of Detroit and the rest of the country. Under the leadership of Miss Ella Liggett and Miss Jeannette Liggett, the school grew rapidly, so that it soon moved from the private hotel at the corner of Broadway and Grand River, where classes were first held, to a new building on Stimson Place near Cass Avenue, and then to Indian Village, where the famous architect, Albert Kahn, expressed in the building he designed the affection he felt for the Liggett community. The school on Burns Avenue was set among the lovely old trees for which that action of the city is still famous, and it radiated a gracious spirit, particularly in the panelled library where special teas and receptions were held. When the time came to move yet again, the alumnae let it be known that they did not want a stark, modern building on the new Grosse Pointe site, but preferred something Georgian, and the result was the lovely Williamsburg-inspired building which is now the Middle School of University Liggett School, with its formal black and white entrance hall enbellished by a curving staircase and a great crystal chandelier.

Detroit University School opened in 1899 on Elmwood, between Larned and Congress, where Pontiac fought the battle of Bloody Run against the early settlers. The school was established by two teachers who wanted to have a school free from political control, where they could include in the curriculum sports and manual arts and other courses not offered in the public schools. The new boarding school was a mecca for football players from all of Michigan as it became known as "Pioneer of the Forward Pass."

After 1916, when fire destroyed a large part of the building, Detroit University School became exclusively a day school. Two loyal supporters of the school guaranteed the expenses of the school until it could relocate.

Eventually, in 1929, DUS moved into its permanent home on Cook Road in Grosse Pointe, where it established itself as a stronghold of a sound traditional curriculum allied with an emphasis upon a variety of sports.

The last of the three ancestral schools to be established was Grosse Pointe Country Day School, which in 1915 began to educate the boys and girls of the community whose families wanted them to be well-prepared for Eastern preparatory schools. The classrooms in the English-style building on Grosse Pointe Boulevard, which stood next to the present site of Christ Church, were large and charmingly decorated, a pleasant setting for young boys and girls to begin their education. The motto of the school, Per felicitatem ad victorium (Through happiness to victory), typified the atmosphere. Classes regularly went through the ninth grade, although a tenth grade was also sometimes accomodated, until 1941, when a full college preparatory program was established.

The year 1941 was important for both Country Day and DUS, for it was then that the two schools joined forces under one Board of Trustees. For the day-to-day life of the schools, however, the only major change was that Country Day sent its older boys to DUS and became a school for girls. There were occasional combined faculty parties, and the students from the two campuses joined for the annual Variety Show and for occasional dances. There was a joint graduation ceremony. Otherwise, the two schools continued in contented separation for several years, until the arrival of John Chandler, a young man whose first goal as headmaster was to make DUS and Country Day physically one, as they already were on paper.

Country Day School on Grosse Pointe Boulevard

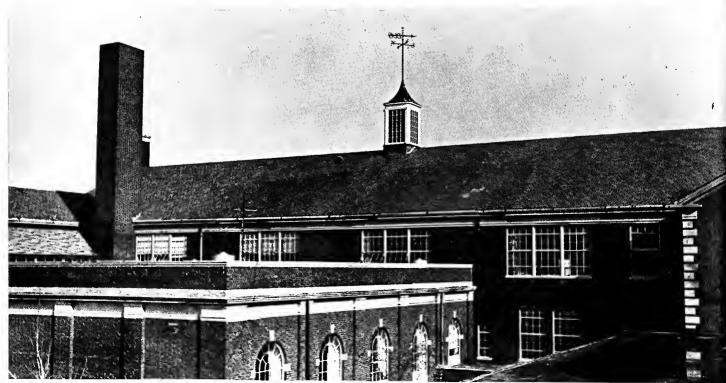

The Country Day Building was sold to the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, and the girls joined the boys on the Cook Road site to form a new school, the Grosse Pointe University School. To house this large student body, the celebrated modern architect Yamasaki had been commissioned to design a lower and middle school and other facilities, such as gymnasium, auditorium, library, and fine arts rooms, in a style to compliment the two-storey brick 1928 building, now known as the Old Building. His design, characterized by varioussized courtyards and a copious use of glass, was much admired in the independent school world of the 1950's. GPUS began to be known nationally in other ways, too, as it developed as ever stronger academic program, including Advanced Placement courses and Senior Tutorials, and it was no great surprise when its headmaster was appointed president of the National Association of Independent Schools.

Continuing to be fortunate in its leadership, GPUS attracted students from a wider and wider area and added yet further facilities, until in 1969 the need for an extensive increase in space for the Middle School was solved by merging with Liggett to form the University Liggett School, with grades VI-VII at the Briarcliff Campus and all other grades on Cook Road.

Patience, perseverance, and devotion-These are the qualities which have earned Miss Emily L. Baker the respect of the University Liggett School community. Her presence in the Upper School has set us at ease knowing all will go well. She has spent many hours preparing schedule cards, writing college recommendations, and making sure everyone is where they should be. She has also devoted many hours to working as the advisor for the yearbook. Her help and support will always be appreciated.

Next year Miss Baker will be fulfilling a new position as she moves on to become the Head of the Middle School. The Upper School halls will surely miss her southern drawl and her laughter. We hope that she will make everyone in the Middle School as happy as she has made us and we wish her the best of luck. In honor of all the work she has done for the Upper School we would like to dedicate the Spirit 1978 to Miss Baker.

In Memoriam Ar. William P. Hindle 1928-1977

If the span of a man's life could be measured in the quality of years rather than in the quantity of years, Bill Hindle led a rich and full life. Everything about Bill was quality. He was a devoted and loving family man as well as an outstanding teacher of scientific investigation. His zest for life and quality of life extended beyond his family and classroom. It was felt on the ball diamond by the young men who were coached and led by Bill's life style. It was felt by the people who lived on Hobart Street in Detroit where Bill endeavored to help them to stay on and raise their standard of living, not through charity, but through their own initiative and hard work. It was felt in Montana where Bill spent many of his summers working with the Indians. What was important was the quality of life of the groups he worked with.

Bill leaves behind him a rich heritage for us to follow. The sorrow that we feel in our hearts now can only be clamed if we aks ourselves the question, "Isn't it better to have known Bill for the time that we did, than not to have known him at all?" We all will miss Bill but his spirit of pride and quality which was the mard of his life style will remain in the hearts of all that knew and loved Bill.

ULS gives birth to a new department

The English Department and the Language Department have combined this year to form the Department of Language and Literature. The aim of the department is to teach students to understand a language so thoroughly that they can write correctly and fluently and read its literature with appreciation.

Recent modifications of the English curriculum have centered in the Senior year, where all students who are not specially exempt, take a term course in expository writing, and where everyone now studies world literature for two terms. In both English and foreign language courses, more honors sections have been created; of particular note is the addition of a section of eighth grade French meeting five times a week.

ULS finds its roots in history!

The history department seeks to use the tools of the various social sciences to enhance the understanding of both past and present. Ninth grade economics and political science provide the student with the conceptual framework for the study of traditional european and american history in the sophomore and junior year. Seniors through a variety of elective term courses are provided an opportunity to explore non-western history and cultures, as well as contemporary problems.

Mrs. Mary Remillet, B.S., M.A. Wayne State University "Did anyone see last night's program on PBS"

Miss Mary Eileen Loeher, A.B. University of Michigan "Come on boys, let's be quiet"

Mathematics continues to count at ULS

The scope of work in the mathematics department begins with some amazing uses of variables in Algebra I and concludes with some astounding applications of infinitely small or large numbers in Calculus. Between these extremes students study a broad range of topics all somewhat connected by the unifying concept of function with a dose of transformations and matrices thrown in for good measure. With all of this students should be well prepared for SAT's, College Boards and Advanced Placement tests in Calculus. As part of the course of study in Algebra I, Calculus I, and Senior Math, students learn to do some computer programming using the BASIC language.

Mr. Douglas D. Werkema A.B., M.Ed. Western Michigan University Wayne State University "Come on, it's not that hard."

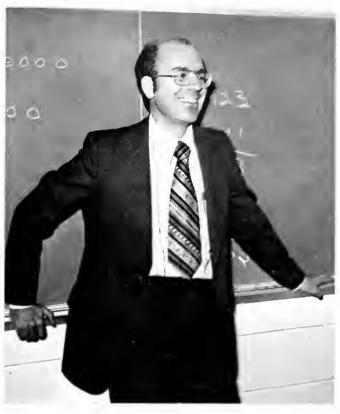

Mr. James Pfaff A.B. Dartmouth College "Well, well sure."

Miss Virginia Y. Robb A.B., M.A. Sweet Briar College University of Michigan "Now this is a N-i-i-c-e problem!"

Mr. Douglas F. Norris B.S., M.Ed. Wayne State University "That's super."

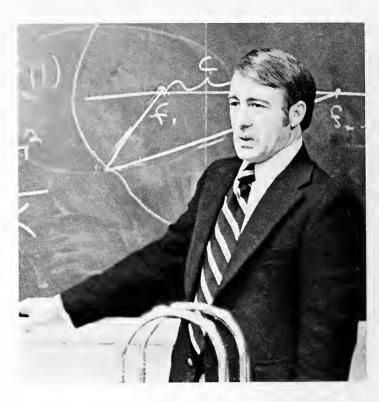

Mr. Frank Gunnip B.S., M.A.T. Georgetown University John Hopkins University "Are you with us?"

There are many aspects of Science to be learned at ULS

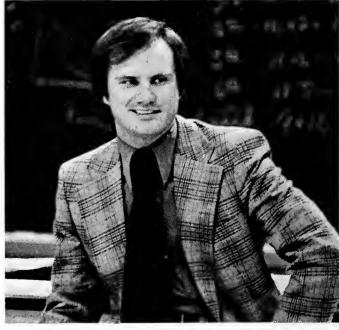

The Science program is designed to appeal to a large variety of students. There are courses offered in the areas of Chemistry, Biology and Physics with more specialized courses branching off from the main divisions. One such course is Physiology. The heart of all the science courses is the laboratory. The student is expected to develop skill in interpreting data which results from his experiments and to formulate conceptual schemes based on his observations.

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood. And sorry I could not travel both And be one traveler, long I stood And looked down one as far as I could To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair. And having perhaps the better claim Because it was grassy and wanted wear: Though as for that passing there Had worn them really about the same.

And both that morning equally lay In leaves no step had trodden black. Oh; I kept the first for another day! Yet knowing how way leads on to way. I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh Somewhere ages and ages hence: Two roads diverged in a wood, and I-I too the one less traveled by. And that has made all the difference -Robert Frost

But by grace of God I am what I am....

1 Corinthians 15:10

It could be nothing less than a dream-this place
But now I feel it lingering.
Dwindling away so that no matter how hard
I try to grasp and hold it, it slips away.
Eventually my eyes will open to see the Blinding sunlight in my life.

And I will try to dream myself back here again Often and grope to return but my eyes Will forever remain under the striking sunlight.

If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away.

BETSY CANDEE HEENAN 1964-1978

"If" for Girls If you can hear the whisperings about you And never yield to deal in whispers, too; If you can bravely smile when loved ones doubt you, And never doubt, in turn, what loved ones do, If you can keep a sweet and gentle spirit In spite of fame or fortune, rank or place, And though you win your goal or only near it, Can win with poise or lose with equal grace; If you can meet with unbelief, believing, And hallow in your heart a simple creed, If you can meet Deception, undeceiving, And learn to look to God for all you need; If you can be what girls should be to mothers: Chums in joy and comrades in distress, And be unto others as you'd have the others Be unto you-no more and yet no less; If you can keep within your heart the power To say the firm unconquerable "No"; If you can brave a present shadowed hour, Rather than yield to build a future woe; If you can love yet not let loving master, But keep yourself within your own self's clasp, And not let Dreaming lead you to disaster, Nor Pity's fascination loose your grasp; If you can lock your heart on confidences, Nor ever needlessly in turn confide; It you can put behind you all pretenses Of mock humility or foolish pride; If you can keep the simple, homely virtue Of walking right with God—then have no fear That anything in all the world can hurt you-And—which is more—you'll be a woman, dear.

J.P. McEvey

As we decide how to spend our time, it is worth remembering that, no matter how dark the shadows; the Light has come into the world and is always with us, ready to sustain us in the darkest hour and to lead us to triumph in the end.

Kiss today good-bye and point me toward tomorrow wish me luck, the same to you.

Will be in '88 - Almost sure.

We are right, he said, and the others are wrong. To speak of these things and try to understand their nature and, having understood it, to try slowly and humbly and constantly to express, to press out again, from the gross earth or what it brings forth, from sound and shape and color which are the prison gates of our soul, an image of beauty we have come to understand—that is art.

James Joyce

NORMA IRENE IGLESIAS 1973-1978

Do what you want girl,
Be what you are.
Ain't no right or wrong way,
Just a place in your heart.
It ain't a sign of weakness girl
To give yourself away,
Because the strong give up and move on,
But the weak give up and stay.
You can change,
But you can't conceal
What's deep inside you—
It's your game, your deal,
your game—you deal.
Do what you wanna do,
But be what you are,
be what you are!
Hall and Oates

Like some low and mournful spell, We whisper that sad word, "farewell."

Breathe deep the gathering gloom,
Watch lights fade from every room.
Bedsitter people look back and lament,
Another day's useless energy spent.
Empassioned lovers wrestle as one,
Lonely man cries for love and has none.
New mother picks up and suckles her son,
Senior citizens wish they were young.
Cold hearted orb that rules the night,
Removes the colours from our sight.
Red is gray and yellow white,
But we decide which one is right.
And which is an illusion???

We've been through some things together
With trunks of memories still to come
We found things to do in stormy weather
Long may you run. Long may you run. Long may you run.
Although these changes have come
With your chrome heart shinin' in the sun
Long May you run.

Neil Young

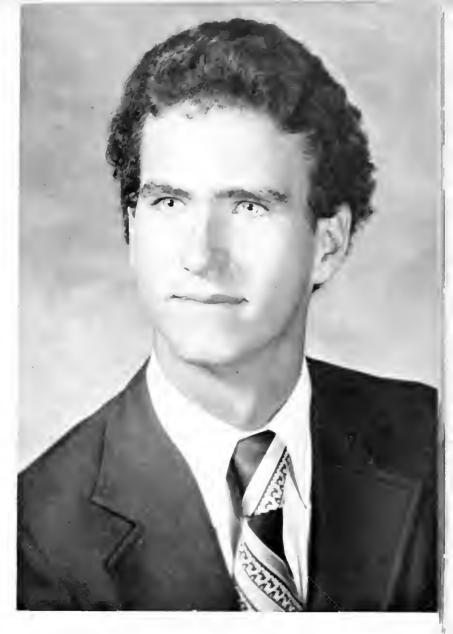

The secret of life is enjoying the passage of time
Any fool can do it
There ain't nothing to it
Nobody knows how we got it
The top of the hill
But since we're on our way down
We might as well enjoy the ride

James Taylor

The beach is a place where man can feel He's the only soul in the world that's real.

The situation may be hopeless, but at least it's not serious

Now you say you're leaving home 'cause you want to be alone. Ain't it funny how you feel when you're finding out it's real? Oh, to live on Sugar Mountain with the barkers and the colored balloons. You can't be twenty, on Sugar Mountain though you're thinking That you're leaving there too soon...

Neil Young

Nothing is at last sacred but the integrity of your own mind.

Emerson

So it goes.

Kurt Vonnegot Jr.

To become the spectator of one's own life is to escape the suffering of life.

Oscar Wilde

And it's only the giving That makes you, what you are.

Ian Anderson

Will be in '88: Alive and living in.

We are the music-makers, and we are the dreamers of dreams, wandering by lone sea-breakers, and sitting by desolate streams.

A. O'Shaughnessy, The Music Mokers

If it is maintained that anything so small as the Earth must, in any event, be too unimpotant to merit the love of the Creator, we reply that no Christian ever supposed we did merit it. Christ did not die for men because they were intrinsically worth dying for, but because He is intrinsically love, and therefore loves infinitely. And what, after all, does the size of a world or a creature tell us about its "importance" or value?

C.S. Lewis, Miracles

MARY MELISSA McBRIEN 1974-1978

I can never hope to fully acknowledge all those who have encouraged and aided me. There is not a tribute grand enough to suit them; there is only the silent thanks of friendship which I offer them all. Written here are only a few of the incidents and phrases that have colored my life in the past four years.

British Lit with Mr. Trofi; Calculus with Mr. Werkema; One incredible term of 12-C English with Mr. Linder; "Chris, I think your car is breathing."; Mr. Hindle's great patience with my ineptness in the darkroom; Any class with Jan; "Who writes rough drafts?"; Phases' pseudo-deadlines; "Tom, how do you get "Mistress" out of "Missy"?; 7th hour discotheque with David and Norma; "OK, Vicky! How many times do you think I'll have to start the car this morning?"; Translating Pat's horoscope from "Elle" magazine; "Don't worry, Annette, I'll be back for Ring Day."; Colleen distributing pictures from her fan magazines; Michelle-the only Kris Kringle who dresses straight out of "Vogue".; "Quick, Vicky, there are no seniors in the senior room!"; "Do you miss us, Mrs. David?"; Tom Hindle and I trying to get Chris to bark in the library; "Melissa Miss"; Karen's study of the Asiatic mouflon; do you want to practice now, Chris?"; My freshman sister, Margot; Norma's jokes from WDRQ radio; "Has anyone seen my sister?" This is a very simple memory of four packed years. I wish happiness and success to my friends, teachers, and family, and I thank them for their time and care. I find, however, that there are no words with which I can thank my parents; no words to describe the way they have taught and prepared me. This page is for them, then, for without their love, it would not exist.

The leaves - yes - they know how to die. A little way from the branch to the earth, a little fear of mingling with the common dust- and yet they go down gracefully- a fall that seems like flying!

Edmond Rostand, Cyrono de Bergerac

He heard a cinfused music within him as of memories and named which he was almost conscious of but could not capture even for an instant; Then the music seemed to recede, to recede, to recede: and from each receding trail of nebylous music there always fell one long-drawn calling note, piercing like a star the dusk of silence. Again! Again! A voice from beyond the world was calling.

James Joyce, A Portoit of the Artist as a Young Man

JOHN OLCOTT HASTINGS, JR. 1966-1978

God has given us two ends with a common link. With the one we sit, with the other we think. Success in life depends on which one we choose. Heads you win. Tails you lose.

To give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul

CAROL ANN MEATHE 1975-1978

Say not, "I have found the truth," but rather, "I have found a truth."

Say not, "I have found the path of the soul."
Say rather, "I have met the soul walking upon my path."

For the soul walks upon all paths.

The soul walks not upon a line, neither does it grow like a reed.

The soul unfolds itself, like a lotus of countless petals.

Kahlil Gibran

LOUISE MOONEY 1976-1978

When I heard the learn'd astronomer,
When the proof, the figures, were arranged in columns before me,
When I was shown the charts to add, clivide, and measure them,
When I sitting heard the astronomer where he lectured with much applause in the lecture-room,
How soon unaccountable I became tired and sick,
Till rising and gliding out I wandered off by myself,
In the mystical moist night air, and from time to time,
Lookel up in perfect silence at the stars.

Walt Whitman, 1865

I remember how you bide your time in the city, and think, if you stop to think, "next year... I'll start living; next year... I'll start my life." Innocense is a better world.

JOHN CHARLES HICKS 1975-1978

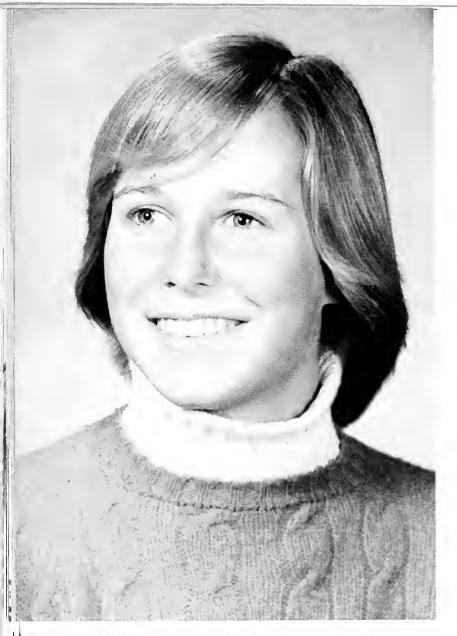

"The Walrus and the Carpenter"

"The time has come,"
the Walrus said,
"To talk of many things:
Of shoes-and shipsand sealing waxOf cabbage-and kingsAnd why the sea is boiling hotAnd whether pigs have wings."

INSEPARABLE...

That's what we are - inseperable
Just you and me
It's - so wonderful to know you'll always be around me.
INCREDIBLE...
That's what you are to me - incredible
you bring out the man in me with the style of your love.
INCREDIBLE...
Like a flower to a tree
Like a word to a melody of love- there's no way
we can break up; no words that can break our thing.

We're just inseperable... That's how it is; for the rest of our years; it's so wonderful to know you'll always be around me.

It's all worth it....we all fall in love sometimes!

Elton John

If you love something very, very much let it go free... If it does not come back, it was never meant to be yours, but if it does...Love it forever!

Smile when your heart is aching Smile even though it's breaking When there are clouds in the sky you'll get by If you'll smile through your tears and sorrow Smile and maybe tomorrow you'll see the sun Come shining through.....if you'll just SMILE.

The deepest feeling always shows itself in SILENCE!

Danes are the Best Lovers

GLORIA GINA SANTAVICCA 1975-1978

Why should we be in such desperate haste to succeed and in such desperate enterprises? If a man does not keep pace with his companions perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer.

Let him step to the music he hears however measured or far away.

In the twilight of my years, when someone asks me...

"What was the most meaningful, the most exciting, most gratifying, the most amusing, the most loveable experience in your life?,"

I shall not answer with words, but with a glance.

When someone asks me...

"Who have you known,
What have you felt and
What was the basis and consistency of your life?,"

I shall not answer with words of music or of poetry, or with meaningless names that decades have rusted; I shall answer with you.

HOLD FAST TO DREAMS

Love is the road, you are the destination.
Love is the performance, you are the applause.
Music is the fantasy, you are all reality.
Happiness is our novel and you and I
Have only lived the preface.

He ate and drank the precious words, His spirit grew robust; He knew no more that he was poor, Nor that his frame was dust. He danced along the dingy days, And this bequest of wings Was but a book. What liberty A loosened spirit brings!

Emily Dickinson

How precious is your kindness, O God!

The children of men take refuge in the shadow of your wings.

They have their fill of the prime gifts of your house;
from your delightful stream you give them to drink.

For with you is the fountain of life, and in your light we see light.

Psalm 35 v. 8-10

I love the one who loves me
Is it my fault if it is not the same one
Whom I love each time
I am like I am
I was made that way
What more do you want
What do you want from me

Jacques Prevert

What am I saying
Don't I know myself from experience
I'll never change
Nor cease to sail the sky
Till the day I die
I'll come to conclusion with fear or Illusion
I'll live how I feel
Cause no matter how fast or how
Slow
Youth will go

Should you see afar off that worth winning,
Set out on the journey with trust;
And ne'er heed if your path at beginning
Should be among brambles and dust,
Though it is but by footsteps ye do it.
And hardships may hinder and stay,
Walk with faith, and be sure you'll get through it;
For "Where there's a will there's a way."

De sunflower ain't de daisy, And de melon ain't de rose. Why is dey all so crazy To be sumpin' else dat grows?...

Doan't ye be what you ain't,
Jes' you be what you is.
Ef a man is what he isn't,
Den he isn't what he is.
Ef you's jes' a little tadpole,
Doan't try to be a frog.
Ef you's de tail doan't try to wag the dog.
Jes' pass de plate ef you can't exhort and preach;
Ef you's jes' a little pebble,
Don't try to be de beach.
Ef a man is what he isn't den he isn't what he am,
And as sure as I'm a-talkin' he isn't worth a &%#...

Self improvement is the name of the game!

Cross-country more than any other sport is one that requires a building season for a beginning runner in terms of physical conditioning and psychological strengthening. A runner needs to gain experience with the sport of running and by this exposure he improves. This is what occurred this season. What may have been a season with only a few victories in competitive situations has been a season filled with much self-improvement for each of the runners. The team which was made up of mostly underclassmen gained experience that will be beneficial to next year's team. Mr. Linder did a fine job coaching this year and will continue to coach these students in the years to come.

Knights win in one of Michigan's toughest Class D Schedules

The feisty Liggett Knights battled their way to a state-ranking and a winning season. Sparked by Senior All-State back Will Hummel, the powerful offense generated the school's most impressive ground game in years. The aerial attack wreaked havoc in the opposing team's defensive backfield and University Liggett's defense strangled any attack launched. Until the last game against powerhouse D.C.D.S., no team was able to stop the Knight attack. The squad of eleven senior lettermen popped, pummeled, and pulverized their way to one sided scores of 28-14, 19-0, and 34-14.

Varsity Soccer comes through against D.C.D.S.

This year's Varsity Soccer team had a fluctuating season. The Knights finished very strongly, winning three out of the last four games with a victory over D.C.D.S.; the last game of the season three to one. This win was the first victory over Country Day in our schools history. The team was led by captains Jim Carty, Jim Blodick and Woody Thibodeau. The Most Valuable Player Award went to David Pierce who scored nine goals during the season. The Most Improved Player Award went to Kevin Hedeen and Peter Worcester. Good things seem to lie ahead for Knight's soccer team.

'Brock's Jocks' tear up the field with another undefeated season

Once again the Varsity and Junior Varsity Field Hockey teams had undefeated seasons. Both teams used their skill and team work to make University Liggett School number one in field hockey. Even though the Varsity came in second place at playday, they still succeeded in winning the Championship Trophy, which is given to the team who wins the most games.

Two new additions were added to the Varsity team this year. They were the U.L.S. "Brocks Jocks" shirts and a new Mickey Mouse mascot.

The success of the year must be attributed not only to the players, but also to Miss Brock and her superb coaching. We would also like to thank Mrs. Tolleson who provided us with donuts, movies and support and Mr. Overton for his enthusiastic cheers. Over-all, this field hockey season was successful and very enjoyable for everyone who participated.

This year U.L.S. has had a fine group of girls participating in Cheerleading. The cheerleaders have been behind the teams from the first day of football practice to the last exciting seconds of the basketball season. These girls should be commended for their fine work. They have managed to raise the level of spirit within the school through their pep rallies, their attendance at the games and their donut sales. Miss Loeher also deserves recognition for taking on the responsibilities as the faculty advisor this year.

Tennis is their racquet!

The girls' tennis team should be commended for a fine job in representing U.L.S. this fall. Their record was seven wins, four losses, and three rainouts. In addition to their regularly scheduled matches, the girls also participated in the Regionals and qualified for the state tournament.

Heidi Cracchiolo and Carolyn Danaher won their divisions at the regionals and Carolyn went on to win the states; consequently showing an undefeated record in her #2 singles division. Other stars of the states were Carolyn Wheeler and Julie Doerer as runners-up in number three doubles and Lisa Vanderzee and Ann Lesesne with a thrilling semi-finals match losing to East Grand Rapids.

Varsity Hockey skates through a successful season!

Under the leadership of a new coach, Steve Avsharian, the hockey team had a very unique season. Steve molded a group of young, small and relatively inexperienced hockey players into a team which held its own in every game. The highlight of the season was a 5-2 victory over Austin. The hockey team has had a commendable number of victories but they have also suffered some ties and losses. Although not as impressive as an undefeated record, the team was never out of any game. In the seven losses the opponents only had eleven more goals. A combination of injuries, lack of manpower and inexperience was the problem. However, with a full season behind them the team has high hopes for the playoffs.

Girls Basketball dribbles their way through the season!

The girls began their 1977-1978 season with a relatively young but talented team. With the vision of an undefeated 1976-1977 season still in the minds of the players and their able coach Mr. Fred Scott, everyone was determined to make this season as successful as possible. The end result was a record of 5 wins and 4 losses accompanied by a great deal of spirit and fine play. A particularly rewarding game was played against Maumee in which the final score showed ULS ahead by a margin of 45 points. The team also ended the season with their traditional victory over D.C.D.S. The scoring was led by Darla McKinley and Stacy Gambrell who should, along with their teammates, have no trouble improving the record next season despite the loss of seniors Joy Dickson, Jean Kennary, and Jennie Dow.

Girls Volleyball set up a successful season!

The Varsity Volleyball team guided by the excellent coaching ability of Miss Barbara Sorenson displayed a great deal of spirit and determination. This group of "bumpers," "setters" and "spikers" showed their talent in every game. The team was entered in two tournaments again this year and they really did put forth their all in both tournaments. There were many games that went perfectly such as the first game against D.C.D.S. and there were many that fell short of victory because of one thing or another. The overall factor that hindered our girls was their timing, for it was apparent to any spectator that they did have the ability to win every match. The prospects for next year's team look good and many players will be returning because there are only four seniors on the team.

Knight Fever finally breaks through

The Varsity Basketball program is back on the upswing at U.L.S., as an experienced squad returned for an improved season. The Knights experienced their first victory of the season in dramatic style. Down by 18 points in the third quarter, they rallied to an overtime victory against Maumee. The Knights continued improving by beating Harper Woods and by upsetting Cranbrook. After heart breaking losses to Country Day and Lutheran East, the Knights put together a four game winning streak. First of all, the Knights crushed Harper Woods 82-48. Then, the team avenged an earlier loss to Country Day by beating them 54-50. This was the second time in 15 years that U.L.S. has accomplished this goal in basketball. The Knights then beat Greenhills and Lutheran North. The basketball team is looking forward to success in the district playoffs and another successful season next year.

The French and Spanish Clubs provide culture for all!

Due to lack of funds the French Club was unable to take a field trip to Paris! However this did not hinder the cultural growth of the club. Under the leadership of Mrs. Lombard, Mrs. Lee, and Julie Gardella the group held various crepe, fondue, and dessert parties. The members have also toured several exhibits at the Detroit Art Institute. The activities of this year's French Club proved rewarding for all members.

The Spanish Club was made up of about thirty-five Spanish speaking students and faculty this year. Because of the group's interest, they had spanish dinners and dances. This year the club was under the direction of Mr. Gomez and Kevin Conley. This interest in Spanish has been a growing one and we all hope it will continue for the years to follow.

ULS produces quality work

Phases, the school literary magazine has had another successful year. Phases promotes creativity and professionalism amongst the students. This literary magazine must be commended by all for its literary and artistic value. The students that produce these works and the magazine show that even high school students can produce quality work.

This year's Knightly News is a combination of last year's Knightly News and ULS Periscope. The staff has been working extra hard this year to upgrade the quality of the paper. Under the leadership of Mr. Linder, Mr. Andrews, Ellen Clark and Linda Schmidt the issues appear every three weeks. As a result of special type, paper and articles the school is pleased with this paper.

Mr. Gunnip was one of the most active organizations within the school. The club's twenty-three members held three successful paper drives this year. The money earned from these paper drives was then donated to various wildlife and conservation organizations. The group was also active in the outdoor life. They visited Jack Miner's Bird Sanctuary and they have plans for a canoe trip in the Spring.

The Ecology Club led by

The Science Club has grown again; This year the forty members held a bagel sale every six weeks in order to fund their various trips. The group took a trip to Toronto by train and also a trip to the Michigan Space Center. Students appreciate the Science Club if not for their interest in Science at least for their delicious bagels!

The Library Aids have done many things in the past which benefit the entire school. This year has been no exception. Through the annual record lottery the library was able to buy new albums. The Library Aids also help to maintain the library by checking, stacking, and helping to repair the books. Mrs. David feels these students are "indespensible to running the library."

This year the American Field Service Club had a Christmas Card sale and a January fund raiser with the adult A.F.S. organization. The money earned from these activities goes toward sponsoring our students in foreign countries and toward aiding the people who come here; for instance Jenny Tebbs and Graham Bullen.

THERE ARE MANY NEW WAGONS. BUT THERE IS ONLY ONE TOWN & COUNTRY.

INTRODUCING THE NEW SIZE 1978 CHRYSLER LeBARON TOWN & COUNTRY.

Ever been ... car-napped, my dear? Car-napped? How intriguing.

This is the new Dodge Magnum XE.

> Do you think I could ... slip inside?

Magnum is special M/ dear 100 18 5885 carnapped

You're looking at a magic means of transportation. The brand-new Dodge Magnum XE.

As much a statement of philosophy as it is a fine motor car, it is crafted in the belief that there is still room for luxury and impeccable road manners to live side by side.

Consider Magnum's cockpit. Thin-backed, low-profile bucket seats. Rich carpeting. Soft tailored vinyl. A most elegant and comfortable driving environment

Yet there's another side to Magnum.

Sophisticated instrumentation. The optional tachometer. The presence of optional tachometer. The presence of antisway bars, front and rear. Hefty FR78X15 radials.* A strong V8 with Chrysler's Electronic Lean Burn System. Such things provide Magnum XE with considerable assurance underway.

Then there is all the electronic wizardry. Like headlights with clear, retractable shields. An optional electronic digital clock with no moving parts. An optional 40-channel CB transceiver integrated into an AM/FM stereo radio (even the antenna is automatically power-operated).

The new Magnum XE. A remarkable automobile that beautifully combines the attributes of a touring car with those of a luxury car. A car that is adventurous without being extravagant.

Drive one. Then buy or lease one. At your Dodge Dealer's now.

Dedication to seniors: Jean, Jennie, Joy, Beth and Betsy:

My friends are my most precious possessions. They cheer me up when I'm down, and when I'm lost, give me direction.

The amount of joy they give me cannot me measured. The depth of my feelings for them cannot be fathomed.

The gap that will open when they depart, will be unreplenishable space in my heart. But I will always reserve for them- that space, til we're together again, another time... another place...

It's a unique marketing and communications complex headquartered in Detroit, Michigan...and serving clients throughout the world.

Certainly we're proud of the award-winning commercials and advertisements that we do for our many clients
. . . but we're equally proud of the brochures, slide films, data books, movies and direct mail pieces that we produce. We believe that all of a company's communications are important . . . and we back that belief with 500 employees, over 100 million dollars in billing, and some very unique internal capabilities and equipment.

How Fares the World?

Each week TIME answers this question with a complete wrapup of the affairs of the world.

Not only the world of day-to-day news, as it happens here and around the globe, but the world of Art, Education, Law, Religion, Science, Sport, Theater, Economy and Business, People, Medicine, Music, Television, Modern Living — to name but a few.

And TIME brings you more than just the news. TIME clarifies the complex and explains the significance of what is elsewhere merely reported.

For this reason, twenty-six million well-informed men and women throughout the free world look to TIME each week to satisfy their need to know of events, large and small, that shape their lives.

The most effective advertising doesn't begin with someone yelling
"I've Got It!"

Creative work plan 1. KEY FACT 2. PROBLEM THE ADVERTISING MUST SOLVE 3. ADVERTISING OBJECTIVE 4. CREATIVE STRATEGY A. Prospect Definition: B. Principal Competition: C. Promise: D. Resson Why: S. (If necessary) MANDATORIES & POLICY LIMITATIONS Account Date Creative Supervisor Young & Rebitan Inc.

All of our advertising begins with the Creative Work Plan. And it's unique to Young & Rubicam. It is a disciplined, time consuming, sometimes agonizing exercise that we impose upon ourselves. We do it for a lot of reasons, primary among them; memorable advertising and increased sales for our clients.

We know that the most entertaining campaign in the world simply isn't worth the effort if it doesn't get results. Sure, we win our share of awards. But they're for very successful campaigns. They're for campaigns on cars like Chrysler Cordoba, our work on Manufacturers Bank and the public service work we do for people like the United Foundation and the Boy Scouts.

While the space at the bottom of the Creative Work Plan calls for the signature of a creative supervisor, we consistently utilize the talents of our marketing, media and account services people.

More importantly, we utilize the talents and input of our clients.

When the exercise in discipline is over, and the Creative Work Plan is finally completed, we are at the point where a lot of ad agencies

We believe that all that extra work helps sell everything from cars to banking services to soda pop to Band-Aids...all around the world.

Perhaps it could help sell a lot of whatever you sell.

We would like to thank the yearbook staff for sacrificing their Sundays to work on the yearbook. We especially thank Edith Salot for her typing, Ethel Burwell for her meticulous proofreading, and Jennie Dow and Carol Meathe for the successful ad section.

We thank Joy Dickson, Janet Peters, Alec Brooks, and Tom Smith for their photographic contributions.

We would like to thank Miss Ferguson, Mrs. Welcenbach, Mrs. Smith, and Mr. Schwab for their invaluable help with the introduction of the book.

We also thank Mr. Andrews and Mr. Schrom for their guidance.

We thank the senior class for their support.

We especially thank Powell Studios and Modern Yearbook for their continuous help.

We thank Miss Baker for her unwavering support for the use of her office, and for her sugarless bubble gum.

We also thank Michael Buhler for spending so much time in his darkroom and especially for printing forty candids at 1:00 a.m.

We thank our parents for enduring life at home without us while we were working on the book.

AND FINALLY WE THANK GOD THAT THIS YEAR-BOOK IS DONE.
